14	Finding out what makes them tick, teaching them new stuff	5/14/2015 7:44 PM
15	It's not about anybody but myself and my horse. Makes me force myself out of my comfort zone and get outside regardless of the weather. It's a physical and mental challenge. I feel happy all day after a lesson where I've done something on him I haven't done before.	5/12/2015 9:47 PM
16	My lessons with Cheski and also being able to finally do it on my own and reporting back to her :)	5/12/2015 9:42 PM
17	Riding wise he is safe. Working wise he likes to please.	5/12/2015 9:07 PM
18	jumping and perfecting my riding	5/12/2015 7:36 PM
19	I enjoy the softness that he gives me when I get it right. Also the trust that we have both formed together over the last year, and now the willingness to try new things without getting worried.	5/12/2015 5:23 PM
20	She is trustworthy, predictable and safe. And fun.	5/12/2015 5:07 PM
21	going through a not loving riding phase but also not loving not riding with the weather. I enjoy doing ground work with him as we get closer and more in tune. My partner is having a few similar issues.	5/12/2015 2:32 PM
22	his awesome athletic ability	5/12/2015 2:10 PM
23	That I am constantly learning.	5/12/2015 12:16 PM
24	She is listening and trying to work with me. She seems to be a good all rounder very suited to my riding needs.	5/12/2015 11:21 AM
25	The competitiveness and my horses are always excited to be out there and makes me feel amazing.	5/12/2015 10:11 AM
